My name is Lara. I'm twelve years old and six months ago, my life changed completely.

I lived in a small village with my parents and my cat named Lily.

My village is fantastic! There are parks, shops, libraries, a small school, ...

I was really happy there. My school is small and there are ten children in my classroom. I have got a lot of friends! I am a sociable and a nice person. I like to be buddy of everyone.

I like to help people and animals. I love cats!

I was in my last course of school.

Next year, I will go to the high school. But I was really very happy because I wanted to keep learning next to my classmates.

The high school is in my village too.

The last day of class, my parents saw me perform at school.

There, my father told me that we would have to go to the big city and start the high school there. He got a new job and I love that idea!

Summer passed and we started moving to the big city... I was so excited!

However, nothing could have spoiled her that day

On her birthday Lara left her food at the gym while she went with Steve to buy candles, which she had forgotten, John and Emily had stolen the food and changed it for a poisoned one.

When Steve and Lara arrived at the gym they continued to prepare the party with decorations and music. The guests arrived and started eating and tasting the sweets that Lara had brought.

While they were dancing, one of their friends started feeling sick, with stomach aches and vomits. Within minutes others began to feel the same symptoms.

Lara looked at John and Emily and realised that they were the only ones who didn't show any symptoms. She and Steve suspected that they could have put something in their food and confronted John and Emily with this accusation.

John and Emily were revolted at being discovered, and John decides to take the cake and throw it at Lara's face. While this was happening, Emily managed to get Lara's mobile phone and recorded everything. After that she posted the video on all the social media that Lara had.

When Lara arrived home she gained courage and told her parents what had happened.

Lara's parents told the principal of the school of what happened and the bullies were punished accordingly, but Lara didn't seem to get over the things that they did to her.

So her parents decided that the best course of action is to see a therapist so that she can overcome her mental obstacle.

After many sessions
Lara seemed to get better but she felt like something was missing
to push her to recovery.

She thought one day that maybe going back to her village and reconnecting with her past friends would help her finally overcome everything that happened. And that's what she did.

She packed her belongings and returned to her old home, her thought that returning to her village would help her came true and she overcame all the past experiences leaving everything behind.

Years later Lara became a well know bullying counselor becoming a beacon of hope for kids all around the wold helping them overcome adversity and become better people.

THE END.
